

Technical Seminar on web designing by Mujahid

In today's world, most of the day to day activities have become digital. Whether it could be a online shopping or online banking. To cope up with the changing scenario, learning web development has become an essential part of their learning for BCA students. During the online transactions user experience is very important. The Front end design plays a vital role in user experience.

The department had organized a technical seminar on web designing by one of our alumini Mujahid of 2012 batch student. On 29th of August 2015 the seminar started with an introduction to web designing and technologies used for the same. Later the discussion took place about the evolvement of web designing. The talk was followed by the demonstration on web designing using HTML5, CSS3 and JavaScript.
